

HAVE YOU SEEN MY GIRL?

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

Love has been so cruel to me / Every girl I meet breaks my heart in three / She turned my life around / Turned me upside down / Oh, the love I found / Now I apologize for taking up your time, but this loneliness makes me place it on the line / Keep me from crying

She said she had to go / Said she did not know just when she'd be home / I cannot walk away / Crippled by the pain / Searching for the reign

Mister, mister please, won't you tell me have you seen my girl?

I am trying not to cry as I search the sky and I wonder / Why did she have to go? / Why'd she hurt me so? / Sir, I gotta know

Don't let me wonder

JOIN THE CIA

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

Join the CIA / You can be so happy if you join the CIA / You can wear a pair of groovy shades, terrorize in masquerade / If you're bored, got nothing to do, the CIA is just for you / My dream come true

SAME TO ME

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

I've been watching you, baby and I know just what you're gonna say / You think my mind is hazy, I'm going crazy / This bible stuff just ain't for today / But, honey, what I think that you're missing is that His word remains unchanged / Now, I'm not trying to feed you religion, but there's something that I've just got to say / He's the same to me, He loves you so / He's the same to me / Wants you to know / He's the same to me / He's calling you / He's the same to me / What will you do?

Jesus came and died for you, baby / Don't try and make like it isn't true / And even though you say that it's okay, I can tell what's bugging you / You wonder where your life is headed as you stare into the mirror each night / If you think about life's changes, maybe you'll see that I'm right

WHITE BOYS

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

If you happen to be wheeling your Cadillac down the street, don't run out of gas in white boy territory / It may seem quiet and cool, but, man, don't you get played for a fool / 'Cause if you get stuck, write your obituary

They come from out of nowhere, faster than the eye can see / The next thing you know, you begin to bleed / Don't call a cop, remember that they're white, too / Take my advice, here's what you've got to do / Stay away from

White boys / They're no damned good / White boys / it should be understood / White boys seem all right and then they grow up to be white men

I had a friend who got his head bashed in / He's okay, he's on the mend / With a smile he said he was free of any animosity / He also smiled when he bought his M16

I hear your rock and roll music / It stinks / Rock and roll music makes it hard to think / Rock and roll music / Why don't you give up, you fools? / Rock and roll / Why don't you learn to play it cool?

I hear your rock and roll music / It sucks / Rock and roll music / Why don't you give it up / Rock and roll music / Why don't you chill out, you fools? / Rock and roll / Why don't you learn to play it cool?

I thought I had it made, that I was just the same / They were fooling me / Now I can see the eyes behind the sheets / How could I be so blind to think

We made it to the top / A force that just won't stop / We have our civil rights / Oh, yes, we won the fight / No need to march again / No other fights to win, my friend

I'm sorry to say / I don't mean to rain on your parade / Sorry to say that it's just not working out that next door or try to live free / If it hasn't happened to you, baby, just you wait and see

DRAG ME AWAY

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

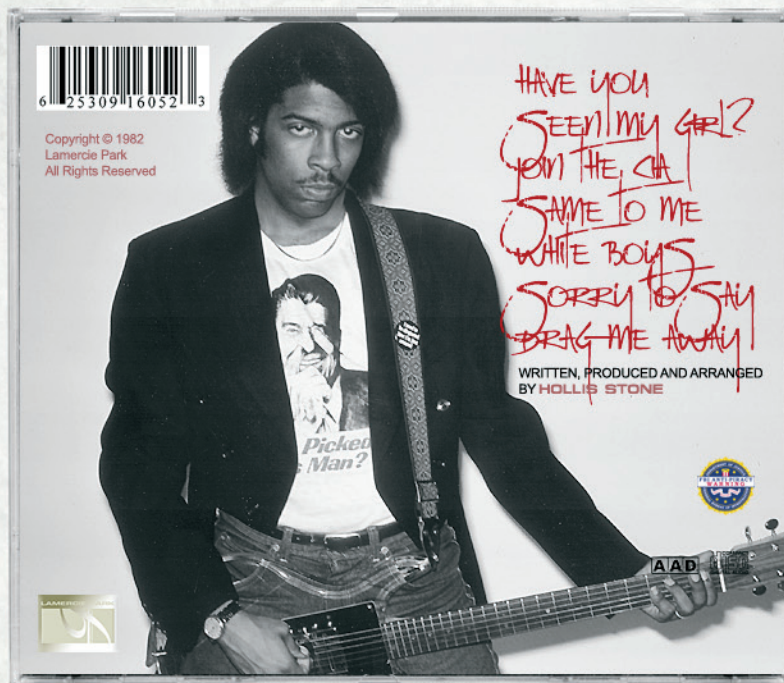

Drag me away to the shores and the mountains of Afghanistan / Drag me away, teach me to kill, show me how, put a gun in my hand / I'm just a boy of eighteen, got no job, got nothing to say / So don't waste my time / Just up my drag status and drag me away

Leave me in pain when I complain about the welfare line / Pummel me down before I gain ground, get some peace of mind / Leave me in jail, give me no bail, maybe it's better this way / So slap on the cuffs, Johnny Law, and drag this nigger away

Lord, I'm much too tired / Hate's fueling the fire / Take me back to the day my soul was first inspired / Lord, you've set me free / Your Spirit dwells in me / I've done my best, stood the test, now come rescue me

Drag me away / I dared to pray in public school / I named The Name, cut my airplay / Come on, now, you know the rules / He paid the price / He gave His life / What more can I say? / His word to deny / I'd rather die / Just drag me away

Drag me away and have me shot

SORRY TO SAY

Words and Music by Hollis Stone
Copyright © 1982 Helen Joyce Music
All Rights Reserved

My mama prayed for me, that I would never see the hatred in their eyes, that thinly-veiled disguise / But one day in the south the truth just found me out / While riding through the park I found my skin's too dark way / Sorry to say that it's not as if we haven't made our gains / Sorry to say equality is pretty far away

Have you ever been to India? / One caste defiles the other / How similar it seems to the country of our dreams

A token here, a token there to make us feel good / The white man is alright, man, but he's never understood / Don't bus his kids or move

